

THE LONDON SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS AND POLITICAL SCIENCE.
(UNIVERSITY OF LONDON)

TELEPHONE 6361 CENTRAL.

CLARE MARKET,
LONDON, W.C.

25th Oct. 1912.

Dear Sir,

Please accept my very hearty thanks for your most generous presentation to the Department of Ethnology, which we are developing at the present time in this School of the University of London. I need not say that the typical specimens of Palaeolithic worked flints from the South of France will materially enhance the value of the collection which Dr. Seligmann is making.

Your gift will be cordially appreciated in the Department and it will give me very great pleasure to report it to the Court of Governors at their next meeting.

Believe me, dear Sir,

Yours very truly,

Director.

M.le Docteur E. Cartailhac,
Membre de l'Institut, etc.,
Musée d'Histoire Naturelle,
Toulouse.